

The City of Houston Announces Graduation Ceremony from the Learning and Development Center's (LDC) City Accreditation Program for Supervisors (CAPS)

CAPS is our middle management multi-track program consisting of eighteen sessions designed to assist supervisor competencies in managing various circumstances regarding employee workday considerations and performances.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LDC CAPS Graduates of 2016

Houston, TX—June 21, 2016—The CAPS Graduation Ceremony took place at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, June 21, 2016, at the Learning and Development Center—4501 Leeland Street, in Houston, Texas. This year's graduating class was comprised of 35 City of Houston employees.

LDC Administration Manager, Tony Bolar, delivered the opening remarks followed by Karen Harris, Training Administrator for the LDC, who facilitated the graduate recognition and introduction of guest speaker, Stephen L. Williams, director for the City of Houston's Health Department. The graduate speech was delivered by Gilbert Aguillon, Houston Airport System.

"CAPS is an amazing resource that every front line supervisor should experience. I had no idea when I began the class that I was going to learn so much from so many great subject matter experts. But even more than that, I have made both friendships and professional contacts that will last for the rest of my career with COH and beyond," said Gilbert Aguillon, Airport Operations Superintendent for the Houston Airport System (HAS).

As the program grows in the future, the LDC will continue to foster this ever-expanding workforce of front-line supervisors, working to cultivate the interpersonal aspects of supervision and to help or assist established supervisors to advance their skills in the public sector.
